

lications as possible. Specific items recommended for inclusion in library stocks were the MIDIRS Information Packs and the Royal College of Midwives Current Awareness Service, both of which reflect the literature that a well-informed midwife should be reading.

Rachel Goldstrom, Midwives Information and Resource Service, Bristol.

People

Sue Tomas, formerly Librarian at Hinchingsbrooke Hospital Education Centre, has moved to the Health Promotion Authority for Wales in Cardiff.

Margaret Haines Taylor, formerly Research Librarian for the Continuing Medical Education Department, University of Toronto, has been appointed Manager, Library and Information Services at the King's Fund Centre.

Management Interest Sub-Group

Managers in all health service disciplines frequently ask for material which is difficult to trace or obtain. Preliminary publicity and a meeting at the Norwich Conference have resulted in interest in this potential subsection. Suggestions include management development topics, a newsletter, union lists, local meetings and study days. A steering group will draft a constitution for submission to the group and officers and committee will be elected in due course. If you are interested please contact Geraldine Proctor, District Librarian, Oakwood Library, Maidstone Hospital, Maidstone, Kent, ME16 9QQ.

Advertising rates

You could use this space to advertise your new titles or product

Our rates are:

Insert	£50.00 + VAT
Full page	£50.00 + VAT
Half page	£25.00 + VAT
Double page spread	£75.00 + VAT

To reserve space in future issues or for further details please contact the Newsletter Editor, Sue Hawkins. (Please see p.2 for full address and telephone number).